Delaware Riverkeepers file legal challenge to Gibbstown LNG permit

November 13, 2025

The Delaware Riverkeeper Network (DRN) has filed a legal challenge in the U.S. District Court for the District of New Jersey of the decision by the Delaware River Basin Commission (DRBC) to extend, for a second time, its approval for the construction of the proposed Gibbstown LNG Export Terminal project on the Delaware River in Gloucester County, New Jersey.

PA budget deal kills RGGI, raises electric costs and hurts clean energy

November 13, 2025

The state budget Governor Shapiro announced today represents a devastating, self-inflicted setback in addressing affordability, clean energy and pollution by walking away from the Regional Greenhouse Gas Initiative without establishing an alternative approach, Conservation Voters of Pennsylvania said reacting to the new state budget deal.

Master Gardeners clean up plastic in Smedley Park to turn into benches

November 10, 2025

For those who take a seat on one of four benches that the Penn State Extension Master Gardeners of Delaware County have installed at Smedley Park, they'd likely never suspect that they're sitting on thousands of pounds of recycled plastic bags, bubble wrap and stretchy plastic film.

Dear Penn America: Nobody wants your LNG Terminal

November 5, 2025

A liquid natural gas export terminal would not be welcome anywhere in southeast Pennsylvania, community and expert speakers told the PA House Environment and Natural Resources Protection Committee Nov. 5. Committee Chair Greg Vitali said he called the hearing because of the fear that the LNG project is advancing out of sight of public scrutiny.

The 2025 State of the Climate Report: The world on the brink

November 3, 2025

The world is hurtling toward climate chaos, according to a major new report published Oct. 29 by 13 prominent climate scientists in Bioscience, a forum of the American Institute of Biological Sciences. The consequences of human-driven alterations of the climate are no longer future threats but are here now, and the window for mitigating the worst outcomes is rapidly closing, they warn.

Why billions of gallons of raw sewage keep flowing down the Delaware River

October 29, 2025

Billions of gallons of raw sewage continue to flow down the Schuylkill and Delaware Rivers from Philadelphia and Camden due to storm overflow days every year, according to a new report by Penn Environment. Activists want something to be done about it.

PA's Data Center Boom Moving Fast and Ignoring Environmental Concerns

October 15, 2025

$90 billion in investments could reshape the energy landscape in Pennsylvania, but community voices and renewable alternatives are missing from the plan. Data center projects are being aligned with fossil fuel energy sources, dramatically increasing greenhouse gas emissions, accelerating climate change and driving up energy costs for consumers.
