Editorial: Natural Lands President Oliver Bass explains need for referendum

October 4, 2026

On November 3rd, Delaware County voters will have an unprecedented opportunity to protect our water, wildlife, and open space. As a longtime resident of Delco and the president of Natural Lands—a nonprofit conservation organization active and headquartered in the county—I urge everyone to vote YES on this ballot initiative.

Pennsylvania Joins 20 States Suing EPA to Restore Power Plant Emissions Rule

October 6, 2026

More than 20 states, including North Carolina, New York, California and Pennsylvania, as well as several cities, are suing the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency over its repeal of most greenhouse gas emissions standards for coal- and natural gas-fired power plants. The agency's proposal would also thwart future administrations from reinstating the rule.
